ROY F. SOUTHWICK
REPLIES TO DOCTOR

Editor Standard: After two weeks of waiting, an answer has appeared from the pen of Dr. Condon to my solar plexus blow at the beneficiaries of vaccination and anti-toxin. I am pleased to have this opportunity of placing more facts before the people. I am charged with making false statements. Dr. Condon says so; you have his word. Is that sufficient evidence to prove my statements false? Judging him by the misstatements he makes, even of medical terms, which I will show his word alone is no evidence. This statement he makes, "Toxin is not a poison at all." Doeland's Medical dictionary gives this definition, "Toxin, from Greek, meaning poison; any poisonous albumen produced by bacterial action." Again the Dr. says, "Whoever heard of a calf or a horse having any of these diseases, cancer, leprosy, or syphilis?" Again the same authority, "Equine Syphilis: The horse has a disease much resembling syphilis."

As to cancer I quote: Dr. W. B. Clarke, of Indianapolis, in the New York Press, January 26, 1909, says:

"Cancer steadily pursues its relentless march, slaying its thousands and ten thousands, slaying the Grants and Gladstones of the world, or the most eminent physicians and surgeons, with as little leniency as it displays toward their humblest and most helpless followers. In the state of New York, 6400 adults died of cancer in 1907! In other words, to bring the subject intimately close, in an ordinary man's life time, about 30,000 people will succumb to the disease in this state."

"As cancer was practically unknown until cow-pox vaccination began to be introduced, it is certainly about time to study out the possible connection between the two. Cancer, I believe, is a disease of cell life, a disturbance of its equilibrium, manifested by the rapid growth of cells and the consequent building up of tumor. I have had to do with at least 200 cases of cancer, and here declare that I never saw a case of cancer in an unvaccinated person. This of itself may not mean anything; but I ask all physicians to pursue their inquiries along this line and see what will result."

Why, if vaccination is such a good thing, was such a protest raised in California resulting in the compulsory vaccination law being repealed at the last session of the legislature? And similar action has taken place in other states. Vaccination is compulsory with a great many of the large corporations today. This was true, I personally know, with the Southern Pacific railway a few years ago and I am told is true today. Where does vaccine come from? I'll let Dr. Rudolph Straub of Philadelphia tell: "Vaccine virus is the technical name for rotten pus. A calf is strapped to an operating table so it is perfectly helpless. The belly and udder shaved, and from 100-120 incisions made with a lancet and into these wounds is rubbed the filthy pus taken from a running sore on a smallpox patient. The calf is then unstrapped and tied up with his head to the wall so that it shall not lick itself for eight days. Some of you know what you have suffered from a single pustula on your arm. You know the terrible irritation and suffering. Fancy having 100-120 of your stomach with no opportunity of assuaging the torment. At the end of eight days this poor dumb creature, after passing through fever and smallpox, is brought back and once more strapped to the table, and in order to get the dirty, decomposed matter out, the pustules have to be squeezed with iron clamps. Often the tops are cut off, and the matter from the scars scooped out, this filthy exudation is then clarified and mixed with equal portions of glycerine."

The Dr. makes the statement that if a person in normal health be injected with anti-diphtheria serum, the serum will have no effect whatever on the individual. Again, "If such person is sick of diphtheria, then will the anti-toxin spend its force on the disease and he will surely recover, and the functions of that person will not be disturbed." Both statements are false. The last one so obviously so it seems useless to mention it. As to the first, I know personally of a woman in Ogden who was inoculated with anti-diphtheria serum while in a healthy condition, as a safeguard against diphtheria. She soon developed symptoms of blindness and a few months later died of spinal meningitis.

Will one breath the Dr. says sanitation did not make living possible on the canal of Panama but the riding of mosquitoes did, and in the next breath he admits the riding of mosquitoes was only a temporary measure to allow the men to eradicate both the cause of the disease and the mosquito. Vaccination should be eradicated for the same reason the mosquito was.

As a last word, I would suggest to Dr. Condon he should always reckon with the intelligence of his readers and he should apply to himself the advice he so freely offers others. (Signed) ROY F. SOUTHWICK
